

About the Author

Photo by Syed Faisal

Stephen Hultquist is a husband, father, ski instructor, journalist, consultant, personal coach, and pastor. He is committed to living life with passion, and doing all things with energy, excitement, and esteem for this singular life we have.

He is a certified professional ski instructor and works part time at Copper Mountain Resort in Colorado as an instructor and Over the Hill Gang guide. He also offers professional services to businesses and organizational leaders providing insights on people, processes, and technology.

Hultquist writes on topics related to business, leadership, technology, and personal development, and he is a professional speaker offering his insights at public and private events, workshops, and seminars.

He lives just outside Boulder, Colorado, with his wife and three children. They find time to ski, bike, golf, dance, ride horses, and grow together. For more on Stephen and other available materials, see his website at www.stephenhultquist.com.